are neutral citizens on board. This must be made very clear in our answer serious consideration is being given to the note and the various issues connected with it. Americans with Germans.

There seems to be a growing belief son is asking too much of Germany in regard to the submarine. The subma-rine is Germany's only effective naval weapon at present and any curtailment the methods employed would impair its power.

Keen disappointment is expressed that the negotiations between this country and America, instead of leading to a settlement of the submarine controversy, are apparently provoking a situation of the utmost gravity. Even some of the American citizens who have long been residents of Ger-many and who have absorbed the Gerviewpoint, criticize the attitude f President Wilson.
